

Stage Your Own Big Fat Zombie Play

Creating your own Big Fat Zombie Play is easy. Just follow these simple steps.

Stage

Find a place big enough for you and your friends to run around in (without breaking anything). That will be the stage.

Characters

Each person should pick a Zombie Goldfish character from the list below:

Tom, Pradeep, Sami, Frankie, or Mark

If two people want to play the same character, then you will need to hold auditions or possibly do the play twice, so you can take turns. Either will work.

Costumes

Put together a zombie-tastic costume for your character from the items listed below:

Tom: stripy T-shirt over long sleeves, jeans and messy hair, some kind of container (one that might hold a zombie goldfish)

Pradeep: glasses, Cub Scout bandana, short-sleeved shirt with a collar, backpack with supplies

Sami: a green skirt to act as a tail, or anything with a mermaid on it

Frankie: bright orange shirt and/or hat, green glasses (ideally with swirling eye lens)

Mark: evil scientist coat, hoodie, sunglasses, toxic green gunk (easily faked with food coloring)

Props

Look around the house for some items you can use as props. Make a giant eel out of lots of socks or toilet paper tubes, make a battery out of cardboard, or find a bag of goldfish crackers to zap into zombies.

Dialogue

Practice your dialog:

Tom: "Come on, Frankie, let's go!" and "We have to stop Mark!"

Pradeep: "We need to look for clues." and "You can do it."

Sami: "Swishy fishy." and "Snap, snap."

Frankie: doesn't talk, so practice your best fish face!

Mark: "MWHHAHAHAHA!" and "That fish is sooooo flushed!"

Scene

Choose a moment from the books to act out or come up with your own zombie adventure!
